PROJECTS

Deep Learning-Based Driver Drowsiness Detection GitHub

Python | OpenCV | Django

- Developed a real-time driver drowsiness detection application using Python, OpenCV, and Django.
- Implemented webcam-based eye-state detection and real-time video processing for fatigue monitoring.
- Built driver and admin modules with authentication, monitoring, and detection-history management.
- Integrated alert mechanisms to notify drivers during fatigue detection.
- Developed database-driven functionality for managing application records and user-related data.

Banking Management System GitHub

Python | MySQL

- Developed a banking management application supporting account creation, login authentication, deposits, withdrawals, and balance inquiries.
- Implemented validation for PIN strength, minimum balance requirements, and transaction handling.
- Integrated MySQL for persistent storage of account, transaction, and audit-log data.
- Structured the application using modular Python components to improve maintainability and code organization.
